DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's response of 26 November 2006 does not make sense to the undersigned examiner. The previous Office action (of 1 November 2006) was a requirement for election between two Groups of claims. Group I was drawn to a method of making a product, and includes claims 1-2, 4-8, 11-15, 17, 19-21, and 28-29. Group II was drawn to a product, and includes only claim 30. Applicant's response elects all claims. However, either Group I or Group II must be elected, but not both.

Note that the requirement for election of 11 January 2005, made by the previous examiner in this case, was retracted. The requirement for election of 11 January 2005 is withdrawn or vacated, and is now null and void. This requirement for election (of 11 January 2005) is no longer being maintained by the undersigned examiner. (The undersigned examiner does not see any basis for the assertion that the species set forth in that Office action are all patentably distinct from one another.)

There is now an outstanding requirement for election, made 1 November 2006, and duplicated below, which Applicant must respond to. An election should be made between claims drawn to a product, and claims drawn to a method of making that product. Applicant should elect either Group I, or Group II.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-2, 4-8, 11-15, 17, 19-21, and 28-29, drawn to a method of manufacturing a plurality of microenclosures, classified in class 438, subclass 455.
- II. Claim 30, drawn to a plurality of sealed micro enclosures, classified in class 257, subclass 415.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, unpatentability of the Group I invention would not necessarily imply unpatentability of the Group II invention, because the device of the Group I invention could be made by process(es) materially different from those/that of the Group II invention. For example, the product of claim 30 could be made by a method wherein the metal film(s) are deposited by electroplating, as in claim 17, rather than by sputtering or evaporation, as in claim 30.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

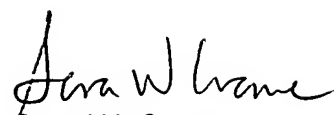

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to S. Crane, whose telephone number is (571) 272-1652.
